GENERAL NEWS.

Ottawa, April 25.—The collectors of customs at Vancouver, Nanaimo, and Victoria were notified by telegraph on Saturday of the renewal of the modus vivendi between Great Britain and the United States in relation to the fur sealing fisheries in Behring sea. NOTICE.

Montreal, April 25.—S. T. Austin, of the firm Austin, Robertson & Co., formerly MacFarlane, Austin & Co., wholesale stationers, died suddenly last night. Austin was a popular citizen and well known throughout the Dominion.

The first issue of the new paper called the Sunday Morning, made its appearance to-day.

Toronto, April 24.—It has been decided to commemorate the date of the proclamation of the constitution of the province of Upper Canada at Niagara on July 16th.

Windsor, April 25.—A journeyman tailor named Treson, was killed by a train near here to-day.

Next Tuesday a strong deputation representing the carpet manufacturers of Ontario will go to Ottawa to urge the Government to increase the import duty on carpets.

Belleville, April 25.—A cyclone visited the northern part of this county a few days ago. Buildings were blown to pieces and other extensive damage done.

Brantford, April 25.—James Thompson's saw mill with a large quantity of oak lumber has been burned. Loss $6,000.

Yokohama, April 25.—Canadian Pacific Steamship Empress of India arrived here on the 20th.

Washington, April 25.—At the meeting yesterday of the national silver commission, it was decided to call a national bimetallite convention, to meet in this city on Thursday May 26th, 1892.

S. G. MILLER.

NOTICE.

London, April 25.—The daily papers do not look with approval on the proposed monetary conference between the United States and England. The Times says it is useless to talk of attempting to rehabilitate silver.

Berlin, April 25.—The Rothschilds have offered a reward of one thousand marks for the capture of Jaeger.

London, April 25.—The Manchester Courier asserts that Prince George of Wales is now engaged to Princess May of Teck, who was the intended bride of the Duke of Clarence. The statement does not create any great surprise as Prince George has made several visits to the Tecks on several occasions since the death of his elder brother, and is reported to have shown a very friendly feeling for the princess. A match between the two would be in good authority, meet with the unreserved approval of Queen Victoria and the Prince and Princess of Wales.

A despatch from Bucharest says the announcement that Prince Ferdinand of Romania is shortly to be engaged to Princess Marie of Edinburgh has been received in Bucharest and Jessy, the two chief Roumanian cities, and in fact throughout the whole country, with unbounded satisfaction.

Berlin, April 25.—The total defalcation of Cashier Jaeger, of the house of Rothschild's, amount to 2,700,000 marks. Two days before absconding, Jaeger received for the bank a cheque for 1,750,000 marks from the Imperial Bank of Germany, drawn in favor of the Rothschild's. Jaeger cashed the cheque and entered up for the house 58,000 which he deposited. Part of the balance he used to pay his most pressing debts, and the rest he is believed to have with him. The police have been unable to find any trace of him in Darmstadt or elsewhere in Germany, and they are convinced that he is on his way to the United States or Brazil. Since the discovery that he had probably several hundred thousand marks with him, they have abandoned the idea that he may have committed suicide.

THE EMIGRATION QUESTION.

No problem connected with the welfare of Canada is so often discussed as that of emigration. And no other question, in all probability, has been so unfairly treated as that involved in the filling up of our vast territories and the settlement of our fertile plains. It seems to be forgotten that desirable emigrants cannot be attracted all at once to a new country, without cost and without effort. Canadians too often seem to suppose that we should receive a rush of emigrants similar to that of the United States in the past, without at the same time obtaining that scum of Europe with which the Republic has been afflicted. They desire, very unreasonably, to receive an emigration similar to that which has gone Australia, without paying out the large sums for state aid which were given by those Colonies. They expect, in short, that the Canadian Dominion should obtain the same recognition in England that the United States has received as a partial result of the stupendous advertisement afforded by its great civil war, or that Australia obtained by means of the impetus given to settlement through its gold resources and discoveries.

It is but a short time since many Canadians had very little faith in their great Northwest, and some are still in that condition, yet they most unreasonably expect the whole world to wake up to the fact of our noble heritage, and recognize all in a moment the room for enterprise, investment and settlement afforded by the vast Canadian prairies. In his interesting report to the Canadian High Commissioner, Mr. John Dyke our Liverpool agent, refers to what he states to be a fact, the prepayment of the passages of three quarters of the emigrants who go from Europe to the United States. This is an important point. The American population has twelve times the accretive power of the Canadian, and the great bulk of these tickets are prepaid by friends in the United States. At least 70 per cent of the Irish emigrants to the United States go in this way.

In this connection, Mr. Dyke makes a rather interesting proposition for the promotion of emigration. He suggests that farmers owning their holdings, and residents owning their dwellings in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories might have the power of nominating persons for Government assistance by a reduction of the passage money from places in Great Britain and on the European continent to points in Manitoba and the Northwest. To effect this purpose the Dominion Government could advance to the County Councils, or other local authorities, a certain sum (or so much per cent of the assessment of the county) taking as security the bonds of the municipalities and charging interest on the advance. This proposal, is, of course, purely tentative but it is born of the reasonable belief that the best emigration agent is the successful settler, and there is much to be said in support of Mr. Dyke's theory that the settler's co-operation might reasonably be obtained, and, indeed, expected.

One other point deserves notice in connection with last year's emigration matters, and that is the tremendous circulation which has been given to the reports of the Farmers' Delegates who visited Canada in 1890. They have been advertised throughout the 23,000 post offices of the United Kingdom, they have been reviewed in nearly all the journals of Great Britain, and mailed, in particular, to every farmer and to every man who might be useful or eligible, throughout the great Liverpool district. The results for 1892 should be good, and there is every probability that such will be the case.—Empire.

An English journal observes, somewhat sarcastically, in reference to the Behring sea settlement, that "the British remedies of courtesy, moderation and firmness have been effectually applied, and the President's system has now, it is to be hoped, recovered its tone."

The statement that the Quebec Government intends to revive the semi official reports of the debates of the Legislature is to be received with caution. If there is anything the province is not demanding it is an official record of what the legislators say.

Three hundred members of Imperial and Colonial Legislatures have joined the Council of the United Empire Trade League, of which one hundred belong to the British House of Commons and nearly a hundred to the Canadian House. A large number of Parliamentary candidates in England have also joined.

Mr. Protheroe has painted a portrait of Mr. Gladstone which Mrs. Gladstone pronounces the only one that has ever done justice to the distinguished original. This is exactly what she said about the picture by Mr. Forbes, which the Canadian Liberals are to present to the chief of the English Liberals. The Grand Old Woman's criticism would seem to lack variety or sincerity.

According to the daily Chronicle, the Dominion Government has been advised that the Canadian Pacific railway will be requisitioned in the middle of May for the conveyance of 203 seamen and three officers from Halifax to Vancouver. It is also stated that the experiment of recommissioning ships at Esquimalt instead of transferring them to the China station or to England to recommission has proved so satisfactory that the Daphne and her sister ship, the Nymph, as well as the armored warship Warspite, will be recommissioned at Esquimalt forthwith.

Anxiety will naturally prevail in the capitals of Europe until after the first of May. Terrible, however, as the recent Anarchist manifestations have been, they have not revealed any marked or widespread concert, but seem rather to have been largely due to haphazard. In any case, indeed, the danger arises more from the vindictiveness or fanatical frenzy of individuals than from the unanimity of a necessarily restricted circle of murderous foes of society. The duty of authorities in all circumstances is the same—unceasing vigilance.

As may be seen by posters around town, the renowned temperance lecturer, Joe Hess is billed for here from the 15th to the 22nd of May next. ## "German Syrup"

A Cough and Croup Medicine.

For children a medicine should be absolutely reliable. A mother must be able to pin her faith to it as to her Bible. It must contain nothing violent, uncertain, or dangerous. It must be standard in material and manufacture. It must be plain and simple to administer; easy and pleasant to take. The child must like it. It must be prompt in action, giving immediate relief, as children's troubles come quick, grow fast, and end fatally or otherwise in a very short time. It must not only relieve quick but bring them around quick, as children chafe and fret and spoil their constitutions under long confinement. It must do its work in moderate doses. A large quantity of medicine in a child is not desirable. It must not interfere with the child's spirits, appetite or general health. These things suit old as well as young folks, and make Roschee's German Syrup the favorite family medicine.
